Float the basket: A Seder with Yiddish Songs and Stories

What words does the Nile sing to baby Moses? What visions do the people of Israel see when they enter the Red Sea? We'll learn through these questions and others during our Friday night Passover "Seder." We will be guided by student Rabbi Joey Glick and Adah Hetko, a collector and composer of Yiddish songs and teller of stories. Adah will lead us through a seder grounded in Yiddish song, stories and folklore.

Protocol for Resumption of Live Services at Shaaray Tefila – April 2021

1. Target date for resumption of live Saturday morning services will be April 2, 2021.
2. Friday evening Kabbalat Shabbat Zoom services led by student rabbi will continue.
3. Saturday morning services will begin at 9:30 AM and will be held in the main sanctuary.
4. Congregants should wash hands on arrival or use disinfectant, which will be placed near entrance. Congregants should also wash or disinfect hands after contact with frequently touched surfaces (eg. handrails.)
5. Congregants will seat themselves at least 12 feet apart. Congregants from the same household may sit together. Two of every 3 rows will be blocked off with ribbon.
6. Congregants should take their temperatures at home and refrain from attending if temperature is above 99.5 F. Congregants who feel ill, have cough, shortness of breath, nausea, diarrhea, headache, sore throat or other flu-like symptoms should stay home or seek medical care.
7. Masks should be worn at all times within the building unless you are at your seat in the sanctuary. It is the responsibility of the congregant to bring a mask. A limited supply of masks may be available at the synagogue. Masks are not required when seated in the sanctuary unless 12 feet of social distancing cannot be maintained.
8. Maximum occupancy of 30 people in sanctuary at any one time.
9. Anyone who has had suspected Covid 19 or has had contact with a documented or suspected Covid patient within the past 14 days, including health care workers, should not attend services. Anyone who has traveled outside NYS within the past 2 weeks should not attend services.
10. There will be no Torah procession. The Torah will be removed from the arc and placed on the reading table and replaced in the arc at the appropriate time. Torah blessings will be done from seats in the sanctuary. Gabbis will monitor the text from their seats. If the text is being read from the Chumash and someone is serving as a pointer, the reader will stand at least 12 feet from the pointer.
11. No kiddish or luncheon at this point.
12. Only 1 person may use a bathroom at any one time except if adult is supervising a young child. Bathroom doors now have locks. Wash hands before and after using bathroom.
13. Congregants are encouraged to wear their own kippas to shul and to bring their own tallasim. Congregants are welcome to leave their tallasim in the seat racks in the sanctuary during the week. Siddurim and chumashim will be left in seat racks so there will be no need to touch more than one siddur or chumash per week.
14. Stairwell doors and doors to main sanctuary will be left open during services.
15. Optimal ventilation with either open windows or air conditioning will be maintained, depending on weather conditions.
16. Elevator should be used by no more than one person or one household at a time.
17. Parents or guardians are responsible for insuring that their children maintain social distancing. If you are not confident in your child's ability to maintain social distancing, do not bring the child to synagogue.
18. Shaaray Tefila is making its best effort to make live services as safe as possible. However, congregants should use their judgment and consult public health authorities in making their own decision as to whether attendance at live services is appropriate for their particular situation.
